Permitted Users

This website is intended for healthcare professionals only. By using this platform, you certify that you have a license to operate as a healthcare professional in the country this Site is intended for.

This website has a specific section for members of the public, a specific section for patients and a specific section for healthcare professionals. “Healthcare professional” refers to an individual who in the course of their professional activities may prescribe, supply or administer a medicine or medical devices.

The section for the public has been designed as a library resource to provide reference information relating to GSK medicines, including but not limited to, prescription only medicines, to the public within Pakistan. Within the public section there are specific patient-only pages for those who have been prescribed the medicine relating to those pages. These pages remain hidden from site navigation and can only be accessed once a member of the public has confirmed they are a patient that has been prescribed a particular medicine.

FOR HEALTHCARE PROFESSIONALS ONLY: Please note that approved prescribing information must guide the appropriate use of all medicines. Before prescribing any medicine, healthcare professionals should consult the approved prescribing information for that medicine in their country.
